

Hyman Solomon Award | Journalism

The Hyman Solomon Award for Excellence in Public Policy Journalism celebrates the journalistic standards and intellectual integrity of the late Hyman Solomon who, as Ottawa Bureau Chief of the Financial Post, covered the complex interplay of the public and private sectors, and the intricacies of national decision-making.

The award is presented each year, at the Testimonial Dinner, to a journalist whose work, in either official language, provides insights into the policy-making process in Canada, and explains to Canadians how changes in public policy affect their individual well-being and collective economic progress.
